Hello. What did you do last week? I went to the city center and I went to a shop for electronics. I bought a new computer game there. Very, very good. And after that I went home. And at home I went directly to my room. I switched on the computer and I started playing. I played the entire weekend. I didn't go to the park, nor did I go to the cinema, nor did I go outside at all. But I went to the kitchen actually because I was hungry. So I spent the entire weekend inside in front of my computer. And you? What did you do? Tell me!
